OCTOBER 27, 2023 TERRACE F. CLUB

HELLO STARCHILDREN OLD AND YOUNG.

As we reflect on the first seven weeks of the semester, a lot has happened (see above). But, of course, we can't forget about our wonderful events. (Re-)Birthday Parties, speak-easy jazz lounges, a princeton-graffiti themed rave (the P-rave), a dark-circus-meets-talent-show party, student performances of all shapes and sizes, and lots and lots (and lots) of food. We have certainly had a wonderful and colorful start to the semester.

AS WE REFLECT EVEN FURTHER, NONE OF THE TERRACE-OF-THE-NOW WOULD BE POSSIBLE WITHOUT ALL OF THE TERRANS OF THE PAST. WE LOVE YOU. MOTHER LOVES YOU. AND, MORE THAN ANYTHING, WE ARE ABSOLUTELY STOKED ON THE FUTURE.

FOOD=LOVE LEILA F. GRANT

Up next! Something from three of our newly elected officers...

Samara Samad (Music Chair)

Hello Terrans of the Past (aka the FUTURE),

My name is Samara Samad, and I'm a 2025-er in the Economics Department getting a minor in Music (Electronic Music:p) and hopefully a certificate in History (unless the office of the registrar pulls a sneaky on me)... & I'M SO EXCITED TO BE TERRACE'S NEW MUSIC CHAIR!!!

I'm from the wonderful city of Atlanta, GA (well 30 mins North but who the fr*ck knows where Alpharetta, GA is)... anyways :))))

Other than Terrace or (Terrizz as my homies lovingly call it), I'm a part of Princeton University Rock Ensemble (PURE), Child's Play Improv, Wildcats A Cappella, the Ultraviolet Recording Studio, and some other bands on campus... yippee I love singing & making some music with my pals (got some stuff on spotify & shidd woo)!!

Because food = love, I think it's only fitting to share what food(s) = the most love to me: any Lebanese dish (b/c yay my culture & b/c it's absolute gas), Welch's fruit snacks, tomatoes with lemon, anything with Yum Yum sauce on it, any candy that is artificially lime flavored, and Waffle House waffles (it's because I'm from the South duhhhh)...

IF I COULD THROW A MASSIVE RAGER it would be a 3-way theme combo — each floor of Terrace is one of these themes:

- 1) Straight Out of 1967 (basement)— I'm talking prime-time cool fits (velvet military jackets and bright-colored tights...think Sgt. Pepper), great music, psychedelic patterns and lights, and liquid light shows... like a cut scene from the Austin Powers universe or the art party from "Across the Universe"...but like authentic and glamorous and not ~Party City 60s blahhhh~
- 2) Punk Let Them Eat Cake (main floor)— I'm envisioning 18th-century rococo flamboyance but with fishnets and leather added, gold-leaf and pastel decorations but everything smells like cigarettes and hairspray, Marie Antoinette type-beat but with 70s Camden punk blasting, food fights, and satin heels included!!
- 3) Liminal Space Toga Party (upstairs) Everyone in togas and golden laurels while drinking red wine from glass chalices, but the walls of the rooms are encased with white paper. There is no talking only sipping. Brian Eno's music is playing in the background. (This is someone's VIS project)...

So excited for this next year!! Come say hi @ Reunions b/c i'd love to meet you wooooooo

Savannah Woellert (Social Chair)

My name is Savannah, and I'm an English major. My family moves around a lot, so I went to high school in Crawfordville, Florida, but now my family lives in Dallas, TX. One of my favorite comfort foods has gotta be grilled cheese and tomato soup, it feels so childhood. Also, not a food but a drink, a coffee is by far my favorite comfort thing. So warm and cozy, protecting me from the sleepies.

If I could throw a dream Terrace event I honestly think I might do it festival style over a weekend. There would be rotating music acts in the afternoons and evenings, there would be quiet rooms with crafting or sensory activities, there would be a food/hydration area, there would be a room set up for people who want to partake in colorful Terrace activities, there would be a sober room for those who want to get away from any drinking or such activities. Outdoor games off to the side! Bringing as much of Terrace into one gigantic event sounds so beautiful, but is definitely very energy consuming to actually throw.

Our new strawberry patch, which was created with free clippings from a neighbor. The little sproutlings were mulched to protect them from the winter weather. We hope to get our first few strawberries this spring, and that the patch continues to grow and blossom for years to come.

Congratulations to Rhodes Scholar Sam Harshbarger '24

Our very own Sam Harshbarger has been awarded a Rhodes Scholarship to study at the University of Oxford. His journey to this point has been motivated by his experience abroad during high school, participating in programs in Russia and Turkey that challenged his view on politics and his place in the world.

Sam's first two years at Princeton were impacted by the pandemic and so when he was able to return he wanted to make the most of the social interactions and organic meetings that being on campus had to offer. He already had a sense of community on campus having attended Princeton High School, but expanded his community with his roommates and at Terrace.

The college experiences he missed out on during the pandemic are the moments he appreciates the most now. These are the moments he will cherish: conversations had at fine beer nights, Sunday dinners at SC house, Friday night movies with friends and social interactions over meals.

And for the future future? Sam is excited to get his thesis done. He's excited to go on a trip with this roommates. He's excited to go to Oxford, experience a different academic scene and make new friends.

For more information about Sam and his research interests, please read the Princeton University release.

Solapium Sessions

Last year Solarium Sessions – a monthly open mic event – was birthed by music chair Jimmy Waltman '23. Solarium Sessions has now become a Terrace tradition, with Steve Krebs claiming that it "...can now be considered in the same breath as...4th Course and Balls."

More than 10 performers shared acoustic songs and spoken word poetry during the last session.

Solarium Sessions continues to grow, under the stewardship of senior music chair Sam Spector '24 and newly elected music chair Samara Samad '25.

RAAHI KINACI

Candidate Name: Raahi Kinaci

D.O.B. May 11, 2023

Candidate Strengths: Familiarity with vomit, manual dexterity, distrust of Tower Club

Music Interests: Heavy Bass, Reggaeton, Funk

As the son of former undergrad VP and current Board Chair Andrew Kinaci '10 and Smitha Nagaraja (Univ. of Chicago '09) I was born already knowing what the F stands for. I've been listening to taproom bangers and drinking alone in my room all my life - and even though I'm not yet eating solids, I already know that Food = Love. I look forward to mastering the game of Balls (as soon as I can sit upright)

As my dad and Alex Brady '10 once formed a Lincoln-esque "team of rivals" in Terrace leadership, I hope Krish and I will one day form like Voltron to lead Terrace in the fall of 2043. Here's to the future (future future)!

KRISHNAN BRADY

Candidate Name: Krishnan "Krish" Brady

D.O.B.: May 19, 2023

Candidate Strengths: Lifelong Learner, Positive Attitude, Eyebrows

Music Interests: Harry Belafonte, R&B, Rattles

lattics

Krish, son of Alex Brady (TFC Pres '10) and Karuna Mehta, has felt a deep, almost physical connection to the Womb for as long as he can remember. He takes a hands-on approach to any problem -- or object -- he encounters, and he won't rest until he's satisfied.

Together with Raahi, he knows he has what it takes to lead the club into the future (future, future).

Do you miss our dear club? Are you looking for a way to stay connected to Terrace? Then come join us on the Terrace Graduate Board!

FROM CAREY JONES '08

I've gone from bartending at the Terrace tap room to making drinks professionally, and my third cocktail book, Every Cocktail Has A Twist, releases on November 7! Here are two cocktails to make this fall — one a simple riff on the Old Fashioned; the other, a two-ingredient cocktail starring New Jersey's own native spirit — Laird's applejack.

Last Call

2 ounces rye ½ ounce maple syrup 1 dash Old Fashioned bitters 3-4" orange peel, to garnish

Combine all ingredients in mixing glass. Fill mixing glass ¾ full with ice. Stir until well-chilled, approximately 30 seconds, then strain into a rocks glass over fresh ice.

Express a strip of orange peel, skin side down, over the surface of the drink, run the skin around the rim of the glass to distribute the citrus oils, and add the peel, skin side up, to the cocktail.

Monmouth Buck

Perhaps the most underappreciated American spirit, applejack has a history that dates back to Colonial times and a rich character reminiscent of whiskey – whiskey that tastes like an orchard, that is. This two-ingredient cocktail is like fall in a glass and comes together in seconds. So easy, so good.

1½ ounces Laird's applejack4 ounces ginger aleLemon wedge, to garnishRosemary sprig, to garnish

In a Moscow Mule mug (or Collins glass) filled with ice, combine all ingredients. Stir briefly. Garnish with a lemon wedge, squeezed into the glass and dropped in, and a fresh rosemary sprig, clapped between your hands to release its essential oils.

FROM JENNY MARLOWE '04 NEW ENGLAND BERRY & CITRUS PIE

It's Fall, babies – and one of my favorite things about Fall is making pies. This one is deceptively simple and makes the perfect addition to any autumnal holiday meal – a nice change from the standard apple and pumpkin. And it's pretty, too:)

A real feature of this recipe is that it works with any combination of berry and citrus – as long as one is sweet and the other tart. I have successfully made cranberry-orange, blueberry-lemon, and raspberry-lime versions; and it's come out perfectly every time – it's an incredibly flexible recipe. So choose your poison and give it a go!

I recommend serving with whipped cream on the side – if you really want to get fancy, you can use your chosen citrus to flavor the whipped cream... But plain works beautifully, too.

INGREDIENTS

For the crust:

½ cup butter, melted – plus a little more for the pie plate ½ tsp salt 1 package Biscoff cookies, finely crushed

For the filling:

1 packet powdered gelatin
½ cup cold water
10 oz. fresh or frozen cranberries (about 2½ cups)*
¾ cup firmly packed brown sugar
Juice and zest of 1 orange*
1 (13.5 oz) can evaporated milk
1 tsp. grated fresh ginger
2 tbsp heavy cream
½ tsp almond extract (optional)
¼ tsp salt
Whipped cream, for serving

* Feel free to substitute a different berry and citrus combination of your choice!

DIRECTIONS

- 1. Pre-heat oven to 350° and grease a 9" pie plate with butter.
- 2. In a large bowl, combine your Biscoff crumbs with the melted butter and salt. Press the mixture into the bottom and up the sides of the pie plate. Bake until the crust is firm, about 10 minutes. Set the crust aside to cool completely.
- 3. Meanwhile, combine the gelatin and ¼ cup cold water in a small bowl and leave to bloom, about 10 minutes.
- 4. In a saucepan over medium heat, combine your berries, brown sugar, juice, and zest and bring to a simmer. Cook, stirring occasionally, until most of the berries have burst and the liquid has thickened slightly, about 7 minutes.
- 5. Add your evaporated milk, ginger, heavy cream, almond extract (if using), and salt to the saucepan and stir to blend. Heat until steaming (but do not boil), then remove the mixture from the heat. Stir in your bloomed gelatin until it dissolves.
- 6. Use a blender or food processor to puree the berry mixture until smooth. Strain into a bowl and discard the solids or save them and eat them on toast like jam; it's waste-free and delicious! and let the mixture cool to room temperature.
- 7. Pour the cooled berry mixture into your prepared crust and refrigerate until completely set, at least 6 hours.

Happy Harvest, luvvies!

Remembering Mike Southwell '60

Sandy Harrison '74 writes the following about Mike Southwell '60, who passed on June 11, 2023, after a courageous 10-month battle against leukemia: "Mike Southwell '60 served on the Terrace Club Board of Governors from late 2005 through 2016, which coincided almost exactly with my own time on the Board. He always could be counted on as a measured voice of reason at Board meetings and outside of them, plus he was just a great guy. Mike and I also worked closely together for a decade on the Board of Princeton Progressives until the latter part of 2022 when his health unfortunately began to decline. So for me personally, it also is a loss of a friend that particularly stings. Mike will be missed by his family, friends, and a host of Princetonians, including also those in his Class of 1960 for which he served as Class President not that long ago."
